Rotary World Polio Day 24th October

Back in 1985 Rotary launched its Polio eradication programme when there were 350,000 cases of polio every day world wide. Today the incidence of Polio has plummeted by 99.9% In 1996 Rotary and its partners joined with South Africa and Nelson Mandela to jumpstart Africa's commitment to polio eradication. Since then Nine Billion doses of oral vaccine have been provided, averting 1.8 million cases of polio virus on the continent which is now polio free. The only countries where the virus continues to circulate are in parts of Afghanistan and Pakistan. The reason that we are lighting up public places with purple lights is in celebration of this achievement. This coincides with when a child gets a dose of vaccine the nurses put a purple mark on the child's finger to show they have received the vaccination; of which they are very proud.
